CASE STUDY:

ASTRAL LAKE

HAZARDOUS WASTE

JOB OVERVIEW.

Working on behalf of a long-standing client to safely dispose of several tonnes of fly-tipped raw chicken, a potential health risk to the local community.

OUR SCOPE.

The waste had been dumped across a regularly used access gateway to a popular local nature park in Leighton Buzzard. Due to the location and the nature of the waste, this was a job that required urgent attention.

We were on site within hours with the necessary staff, PPE and enclosed lorry to dispose of the chicken carcasses and storage crates off site.

THE OUTCOME.

The chicken waste was destroyed by anaerobic digestion processing to ensure that none of the material could enter the human food chain. Upon completion of the clearance, the entire area was cleaned down with suitable chemicals, to allow access to the park to be restored.

All were works completed within 12 hours.
